

VISITOR SCAVENGER HUNT

Search for each significant place at the memorial. Take a picture of each one and collect them all in a presentation or video. Then share your knowledge about this memorial with others.

- 1 The centerpiece of the memorial is a 2,200-pound steel beam recovered from the North Tower of the World Trade Center. The beam is raised, pointing southeast toward New York City and held in place by a sculpture that is an abstract representation of the Twin Towers. It is anchored to a pentagon-shaped limestone foundation, a tribute to the Pentagon, which was also attacked on September 11. Each point of the foundation is oriented toward one of the learning stations.

- 2 The Teaching Podium bases have been fashioned to remind people of the tridents that were the signature architectural element at the bases of the Twin Towers.

- 3 The Southwest Teaching Podium educates visitors about the flight paths and the timeline of the attacks.

- 4 The “Ascension” sculpture, designed by Susan Falkman, memorializes the fallen and honors the first responders at the Twin Towers.

- 5 The Northwest Learning Station teaches visitors about the events of 9/11 and those who were killed in the attacks.

- 6 The Clematis Trellis Towers represent the World Trade Center Towers. Sweet Autumn Clematis blooms in September—perfectly timed to the events of 9/11.

- 7 The engraving, “No Day Shall Erase You From The Memory Of Time,” is a famous quote from the poet Virgil, and is also displayed in the 9/11 Memorial & Museum in New York.

- 8 The Survivor Tree, a gift from the 9/11 Memorial & Museum, is a seedling from the Callery pear tree, which survived the attacks at the World Trade Center in New York City. This 9/11 Memorial Survivor Tree Seedling is a living reminder of resilience, survival and rebirth.

- 9 The Learning Centers are ringed by red granite, Wisconsin’s state stone. Surrounding the granite is a ring of Callery pear trees, a reflection of the Survivor Tree Seedling.

- 10 The Veteran’s Area pays tribute to Washington County veterans who served in the Army, Navy, Marines, Air Force and Coast Guard. A memorial bench honors Kewaskum native Einar Ingman Jr., a Korean War Medal of Honor recipient.

- 11 A single Swamp White oak tree is planted 754 inches from the center of the memorial, the same number of miles that exist between New York City and Kewaskum.
